Civic League Speaker Urges Greater Interest In Municipal Affairs

Mr. A. J. Hughes Advocates Council Taking Ratepayers Into Confidence; Deplores Apathy Of Land Holders

Protesting that the Shanghai Municipal Council should take the ratepayers more largely into their confidence and urging more interest in municipal affairs by ratepayers, Mr. A. J. Hughes delivered an address before the Civic League meeting yesterday afternoon on local civic problems. He pointed out that apathy of ratepayers in the past has left its imprint in the administrative policy of the past and pleaded that the ratepayers of today see "that in this respect history does not repeat itself."

POOR ATTENDANCE

The meeting was so poorly attended that all business was suspended because of a lack of a quorum. A special meeting will be called when efforts will be made to secure a full attendance.

The appointment of the Executive Committee which will plan the work of the organisation this year was not made. The names suggested for the committee were Messrs. M. Benjamin, G. A. Fitch, Dr. W. G. Hiltner, C. Holliday, A. J. Hughes, G. T. W. Morgan, C. C. Nieh, G. Peet, F. Rawlinson, and Mrs. O. M. Green and Miss J. Ward. Although no action was taken the members present discussed the advisability of appointing committeemen who did not take an active interest in the League and attend the meetings. This discussion will be continued at the next meeting.

MEMBERSHIP INCREASE

The report of Mr. W. Robbins, secretary, showed that the organisation has met on 13 occasions when subjects pertaining to the growth and well being of the Settlement were presented. In 1919 there were 77 names on the roll which increased in 1920 to a total of 134.

The paper read by Mr. A. J. Hughes showed that the speaker had made a careful study of the civic problems in Shanghai. In the discussion which followed the reading of the paper the members heartily endorsed all that Mr. Hughes had said.

Mr. Hughes said in part:

"At the last public meeting of the Civic League, Mr. E. C. Pearce, late Chairman of the Municipal Council, described for us the origin of the International Settlement and the development of its political status and form of Government. This address by so great an authority on these matters was considered of such importance that the Committee of the League had some copies printed for distribution to its members. It has now been decided to reprint the address which Mr. Pearce has kindly consented to edit. Many interesting notes and extemporaneous references which do not appear in the first edition will be included. A sufficient number will be printed for more general distribution and complimentary copies may be obtained on application to the Secretary of the League. Mr. W. Robbins. 22 Kiukiang Road.

"Every one who was privileged to hear Mr. Pearce's address must have been impressed by the fact that Shanghai's rapid development into one of the world's great commercial centers speaks well for the efficiency and integrity of its administration, handicapped as it has always been and is now by special limitations and difficulties unprecedented in the history of any other city in the world.

DIFFICULTIES INCREASE

"It cannot be denied that the difficulties and complexities of our Civic Administration have greatly increased in recent years and are every year becoming more acute. The foreign population has increased enormously, the preponderance of the control by one nationality is diminishing rapidly, the Chinese have invaded the Settlement without restriction until they outnumber the foreign element nearly 40 times over and are clamoring for a share of the Government of the Settlement. Moreover the city has grown far more rapidly than was obviously contemplated by those who planned for its future in the past. The political constitution under which Shanghai is governed has in a measure failed to meet the changed conditions. There is a feeling among a large number of residents that more public interest should be taken in those civic affairs which directly affect

JAPANESE NOTE WARNS RUSSIANS OFF FISHERMEN

Rules Are Laid Down At Vladivostok As Result Of Depredations

(Delta News Agency)

Vladivostok, Jan. 21.—Mr. Kikuchi, the Japanese Consul-General at Vladivostok, has addressed a note to the Vladivostok Government, a copy of which has been wired to the Chita Government. The contents of the note are: Owing to the increasing chaos and disorder in Russia and the Maritime Government's inability to protect Japanese fishing rights along the Russian Pacific coast, many fisheries and can factories of the Japanese are being destroyed by the Partisans. In view of this, the Japanese Government has decided to lodge the following demands for the protection of Japanese interests:

1.—The rent paid by Japanese for leased fisheries is to be deposited in Japanese banks. Only a certain part of the rent can be used by Russian authorities for guarding fisheries and for other expenses connected with the fishing industry. All money received from leases of fisheries is to be checked by Russian and verified by Japanese authorities. The money deposited by Japanese as rent or security for leased fisheries cannot be taken by the Russian authorities before the close of the fishing season. This money is to be regarded as security against any possible losses of Japanese fishermen in case of their property being destroyed by the Partisans.

2.—Navigation certificates for Japanese fishermen are not to be issued by the Russian Consulates but by the Japanese authorities and also other documents needed by the Japanese fishermen.

3.—Japanese fishermen are allowed to charter ships for fishing and for carrying fishing implements and also goods. They are

FURBUSH FRAMING APPEAL BUT MUST GO ON TO BILIBID

Intention Is Upset To Send Him To Manila Aboard U. S. S. Elliott

While efforts to obtain a stay of execution of the sentence of life imprisonment imposed on Henry B. Furbush were overruled in the United States Court for China by Judge C. S. Lobingier, American authorities found themselves unable yesterday to send Furbush to Manila to begin his term of imprisonment, as had been planned, because the U. S. S. Elliott on which he was to go to the Philippines sailed somewhat ahead of schedule. The move made yesterday by Mr. M. L. Heen was a preliminary to an appeal to the U. S. Court of Appeals of the Ninth district in California which is to be taken in the case.

Arrangements had been made to send Furbush to Manila on the Elliott yesterday when Mr. Heen presented his motion accompanied by an affidavit. In the motion the Court was asked to postpone the removal of Furbush to Manila for a reasonable time to allow him and his counsel to prepare a motion for a new trial and to perfect an appeal that the defendant intends to take from the judgment to the United States Court of Appeals.

The affidavit accompanying the motion recited the outstanding events and outcome of the recent trial and set forth that in determining further procedure in connection with the defense the continued presence in Shanghai of Furbush is essential.

Only in the unlikely event that the Elliott returns to Shanghai can Furbush be sent to Manila on that boat. It was not known yesterday how soon Furbush may be sent on to Bilibid or whether he would go on a passenger boat in the custody of a deputy marshal.

LANGDON'S BODY IS BEING SENT HERE ON BOARD NEW ORLEANS

Vladivostok, Jan. 24.—Admiral Gleaves today exchanged visits with General O-i.

The Court of Inquiry into the death of Lieutenant Langdon, U.S.N., consisted of Admiral Gleaves' Chief of Staff, Captain Cone, Captain Owens of the New Orleans, and several other officers.

The Japanese members included Colonel Yamamoto, Major Senoo and Major Okinori, Chief of Gendarmes. It is expected that the result will soon be given out.

The New Orleans left for Shanghai yesterday, with the late Lieutenant Langdon's body on board.

LEEDS IS LEAVING FOR AMERICA ON LINER VENEZUELA

Son Of Princess Christopher Sails Saturday With Doctor And Nurse

William B. Leeds Jr., son of the beautiful Princess Christopher of Greece, who is in Shanghai undergoing treatment for an infection in the arm received when tiger hunting in Sumatra, will sail for San Francisco on the Pacific Mail Steamship Company liner, Venezuela on Saturday.

Mr. Leeds, who is a youth of seventeen, will be accompanied by Dr. Wakefield and Miss Freda Schultz, a nurse of the staff of Doctor J. B. Fearn's sanitarium.

While in Shanghai Mr. Leeds has been a patient at Dr. Fearn's sanitarium under the care of Dr. Wakefield and Dr. Paul Martin.

The seriousness of the infection has caused young Leeds to cancel all plans for travel in the East and to sail directly for New York where it is believed his arm will be saved through a delicate operation. According to reports Mr. Leeds will be met in New York by his mother.

INDIAN ARMY IS WEAKENED TO CUT COST OF UPKEEP

(Reuter's Service)

Delhi, Jan. 24.—In connection with the reductions which are being made in the Indian army as a measure of economy, it is understood that proposals have been sent home for the immediate employment of the officers who are to be demobilised by the formation of special units, which would be available for foreign service and would be maintained at the expense of the Imperial Government.

In the meanwhile, the 39 regiments of Indian cavalry are being reformed into 21 by a process of amalgamation. After the completion of this scheme 35 infantry battalions will be demobilised. The Air Force is being reduced by two squadrons and the remaining force will be improved.

Military circles generally condemn this weakening of the army, which is said to be purely the outcome of the financial situation, coupled with an outcry from the Indians at the heavy cost of the army.

Indian politicians insist that contentment among the Indians is better insurance against trouble than costly armed forces.

CORNELL PROFESSOR SAYS EUROPE WILL OWE U.S. 20 BILLIONS

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Jan. 25.—Dr George Warren, Professor of Economics at Cornell University, in giving evidence before the Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives, predicted that Europe's debt to the United Stafes would in 1924 amount to twenty thousand million dollars.

He said that European business men now owed American firms nearly four thousand million dollars and Europe must continue to send products to America irrespective of the United States import duties.

He expressed the opinion that the rate of exchange would not improve yet, but would tend to increase the European debt.

Ford Closes Plants And Seeks Immense Loan; Is Overstocked

(Reuter's Service)

London, January 24.—In connection with Reuter's New York correspondent's report that Ford Motors are negotiating for a loan of $50,000,000, the Times New York correspondent says that financial circles there estimate that the Ford Company need about twenty-five million sterling to pay off their loans from seven banks and eleven millions more for taxes and to supply additional capital.

This is mainly because Ford's have on hand over seven millions sterling worth of unsold motor cars, for which there is at present no market.

A reduction in the price of Ford cars stimulated sales for a short time, but the works were closed at the end of the year.

VISCOUNT KATO URGES JAPAN TO QUIT SIBERIA

Leader Of Opposition In Caustic Criticism Of Present Government

BROKEN FAITH CHARGED

Lives Of Soldiers Risked To Protect Interests Of Few Civilians, He Says

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, January 24.—The House of Peers was packed today to hear Viscount Kato, former Ambassador to London, make his first speech in the House, where he has been sitting for years but has hitherto been silent.

Viscount Kato is regarded as a leading exponent, almost a "worshipper," of Anglo-Saxon political ideals, and being powerful as the President of the "kenseikai," the leading opposition party, his speech was regarded with intense interest.

After criticising the Government's lack of continuity in international dealings and the failure of its economic policy, Viscount Kato declared that Japan should have withdrawn from Siberia with America.

SHIFTING EXCUSES

Japan, by remaining in Siberia, and giving shifting excuses, was arousing charges that she entertained militaristic ambitions. When Czechs had evacuated, the Government had declared that it must maintain order, but why, he asked, maintain order in foreign territory?

The Government talked of the menace of Bolshevism, especially to Korea, but if so, it should occupy Chientao, the Korean hotbed, rather than Siberia. Better, the speaker said, leave the foreign affairs to foreigners, unless Japanese interests were actually and seriously menaced.

Japan's initial expedition was proper because America joined in it, but subsequent reinforcements were unnecessary, and were leading to foreign misapprehensions.

LIVES ENDANGERED

The Government alleged the necessity for the protection of Japanese residents, but having withdrawn them from Chita he queried why should it not also withdraw them from Vladivostok where the business of most of the Japanese civilians was in connection with the military occupation of the place.

Better to withdraw these civilians than to endanger a larger number of soldiers' lives, to say nothing of expenses and, more important still, foreign criticism.

Moreover, the Chita Constitutional Conference was being held soon, but it was questionable if the result would be satisfactory to Japan in view of the possibility of further unfavorable developments. Continued occupation was fraught with every danger. Would the Government, disregarding this, he asked, still insist on remaining in Siberia?

PREMIER HARA REPLIES

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

The Premier, Mr. Hara, in his reply to Viscount Kato, said that when the Czechs evacuated Siberia, the Government wished to withdraw. Not, however, on account of political ambition, but owing to the fact that many Russians desired that Japan should remain, and also for the protection of Japanese interests and residents, the withdrawal was delayed. The continued occupation was, therefore, for the purpose of self-protection. After the Nikolaieevsk massacre Zabaikal was evacuated, but the Japanese remained at Vladivostok, with the assent of the Powers.

The political instability in Siberia was a source of worry to Japan, but that was not the cause of the continued occupation, which was merely for the purpose of protecting the Japanese residents of Vladivostok. These did not exceed 7,000 in number, but they were old residents, and the Government therefore deemed it necessary to protect them, instead of urging their withdrawal, as had been done elsewhere. When a proper Russian Government was established, the troops would be withdrawn.

SPREAD OF BOLSHEVISM

The Premier declared that Bolshevism was spreading with overwhelming rapidity, and was threatening to find its way into Japanese territory at any moment. The Government was aware of the futility of trying to check Bolshevism with bayonets, and realised that it was not in this way that the "Bolshevisation" of discontented Koreans could be prevented. Large numbers of the latter who were at Vladivostok had been expelled, and were now congregating in the Chientao region. Troops went to Chientao because the Chinese authorities could not protect the Japanese residents. When satisfactory

SLEUTH FINANCIER IN MIXED COURT; DIVORCE GRANTED

Decree Is Given To Wife Of Wong Ching-on Of French Concession Police

Decree of divorce was granted yesterday afternoon in the French Mixed Court to Wang Ling Sze, wife of Wong Ching-on, head of the Chinese detective force of the police department of the French Concession, who, according to allegations that his wife made, amassed a fortune of Taels 400,000 while receiving a salary that was increased from Tales 25 to Taels 35 a month while in the police service.

Yesterday's hearing attracted a full court room. M. D'Auxion de Ruffe was counsel for the petitioner. In her testimony, Wang Ling-sze said that she had been married to the defendant for over ten years but was separated from the detective last autumn when he took an actress into the family.

The detective admitted that when he separated from his wife he drew up an agreement to pay her $80,000, $50,000 in cash and $30,000 in jewels, and admitted also other charges the wife had made, but he denied that he had been persecuting her by having her followed.

The rift in the domestic affairs of the Wong family came about

FOCH INDICTS GERMANS FOR FAILURE TO OBSERVE DISARMAMENT PLEDGES

Former Enemies May Be Given Chance To Make Explanations When Course Is Determined By Conferees At International Conference In Paris

(Reuter's Services)

Paris, Jan. 24.—The report of the Versailles Military Committee, a summary of which Marshal Foch read at this morning's Conference at the Quai d'Orsay, constitutes a smashing indictment of Germany's failure to carry out the disarmament terms.

Items on the indictment are:

1.—Neither the civilian population nor the Civil Guards have surrendered their arms;

2.—The disarmament of the Zicherheitspolizei has not been completed, nor has that body been dissolved;

3.—The Civic Guards in East Prussia and Bavaria are closely connected with the Reichswehr;

4.—German legislation conflicts with the military terms of the Treaty;

5.—The German Government have refused to hand over the artillery material at Koenigsberg and Kuestrin; and 6.—Germany is placing difficulties in the way of the execution of the air clauses.

The French newspapers remark that Mr. Lloyd George was visibly impressed by Marshal Foch's report.

The participants at the Conference are reticent as to the course of yesterday's proceedings, but, from the fact that agenda was so arranged as to dispose of the least controversial questions first, the opening day's meeting has apparently accomplished less than was hoped.

It seems that the British delegates favored a consultation with the Germans before confronting the latter with the Allies' final decision regarding disarmament, but M. Briand was opposed to this. Other delegates suggested a compromise, urging that the Conference should immediately determine upon a policy, but that the Germans should be permitted to state their views regarding the methods of carrying it out.

It is generally considered that this last-named course is the most likely one to be subsequently adopted.

Tomorrow's agenda includes the consideration of the economic reconstruction of Austria. In this connection the French have prepared a scheme upon which the highest hopes of a favorable agreement are based.

DISCUSS ARMAMENTS

The Conference after a brief summary of the agenda by the Chairman, speedily got to work on the disarmament question, and the Allied military experts were called in, namely: France: M. Barthou, Minister of War, Maraal Foch, General Weygand and General Nollet (Chairman of the Allied Control Commission at Berlin); Great Britain: Field Marshal Sir Henry Wilson and General Bingham (Chairman of the Allied Sub-Commission of Control of destruction of German armaments); Belgium: General Maglinse (Chief of the General Staff); Italy: General Marietti (Italian representative on the Interallied Military Committee at Versailles).

Statements were made on the present disarmament position by Marshal Foch, and Generals Bingham, Nollet and Marietti, (as cabled by Reuter).

The Temps points out that General Bingham, by reason of his official position, was particularly qualified to report on the extent to which the Germans have hitherto carried out the destruction of armaments, while General Nollet was able to draw the attention of the Allied Governments to the insufficency of Germany's disarmament, and to the too elastic interpretation which the German military authorities are endeavoring to place on the terms of the Treaty.

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, January 24.—Mr. Lloyd George reached the Quai d'Ossay at half past ten this morning and was at once shown to M. Briand's room, where the two Premiers remained in conversation to the last minute before the Conference began (at 11 a.m.).

Just as Mr. Lloyd George arrived at the Foreign Ministry, he met M. Barthou, the Minister of War, the evident cordiality which marked the two statesmen's friendly exchange of greetings did not fail to make an impression on all the bystanders.

M. Briand, who was elected Chairman of the Conference, opened the proceedings in the following words:

BRIAND'S SPEECH

"Gentlemen, in thanking you for the honor you have conferred on me in electing me your Chairman, and in according you my welcome I do not think I can better testify to my gratitude than by proposing to you to set to work immediately, without more ado."

The countries represented at the Conference are France, Great Britain, Japan, Italy and Belgium, the delegates being:

France—M. Briand and M. Berthelot (Secretary-General of the Ministry for Foreign Affairs).

Great Britain—Mr. Lloyd George and Lord Curzon, (Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs).

Japan—Viscount Ishii, (Japanese Ambassador at Paris).

Italy—Count Sforza (Minister

ASKS SUM TO PAY BILLS OF SOUTH'S OLD GOVERNMENT

General Tsen Wants $1,700,000 Of Customs Surplus To Meet Obligations

(China Press Correspondent)

Peking, January 21.—General Tsen Chen-hsuan, former Minister of War of the Southern Military Government and at present Inspector-General for Peking of the Liangkwang provinces, has requested the government to allot to him $1,700,000 of customs surplus money to meet the obligations of his defunct government which are now falling due. As the Peking government took over responsibility for liquidating the finances of the southern government when the latter annulled itself in favor of Peking, the request of Tsen apparently places the government in a quandary.

Some foreign quarters, however, believe that this request of Tsen's is a counter move inspired by the Peking government to offset the request of Sun Wen's new Canton government for the portion of the customs surplus naturally pertaining to the southwest provinces, particularly in view of Mr. Kuo Tai-chi's presence in Peking as an emissary of the new southern government to place this request before the foreign plenipotentiaries.

Red Cross In Appeal For Volunteers To Work In Famine Area

Central Committee Asks Local Firms To Release Workers; Nation-Wide Drive For Funds Plan Of Peking National Committee

The China Central Committee has received a request from Mr. J. E. Baker, director of American Red Cross Famine Relief in North China for personnel to assist in supervising the road building and distribution of food to the laborers employed.

More foreigners are required to take care of the constantly increasing numbers of Chinese engaged in this work and the larger the organisation we can build up the more extensive and efficient will be the results obtained.

The following statement was issued by the Central Committee yesterday:

"We are anxious to recruit volunteers as far as possible for every dollar saved in salaries means that many more famine sufferers saved from starvation. and besides the service required more self sacrifice and more enthusiasm than the ordinary paid-employee is willing to give.

FOREIGNERS NEEDED

"The A. R. C. will provide traveling expenses, food and quarters during the term of enlistment which we are willing to accept from two to six months, the immediate future being the most important.

"Our road-building headquarters are in Techow and we are working in sections between there and Liucheng, a distance of 70 miles and the co-operation which is being extended the American Red Cross in this district may result in building our high-way through to a point on the Peking-Hankow Railway. The extension and success of this operation depends more on the question of personnel than on money for the latter funds but we need more men.

Line Is Russian People's, Management Cannot Shift, Says Siberia Head Of R.V.F.

Managing Director Of Vladivostok Administration States Its Case; Blames Insurgent Faction For Hunger In North

Declaring that since the Russian Volunteer Fleet is a national institution, the creation of the Russian people, its management may not be arbitrarily transferred to a foreign country, and that the action of the so-called Constantinople Administration in removing many of its ships to alien waters is causing hardship, and even starvation, for many of the Russian population, Captain D. A. Lukhmanoff, Managing Director of the Vladivostok Administration, yesterday stated the case for the Fleet from the viewpoint of that faction.

Captain Lukhmanoff is at present in Shanghai in an effort to clear up the impasse to which the controversy has brought the line's service here and stated that he is hopeful of having the difficulties satisfactorily adjusted and the service between China and Siberia resumed in the near future.

TELLS OF ORGANISATION

"The Russian Volunteer Fleet," said Captain Lukhmanoff, "was established 42 years ago, the money for its creation being collected by national subscription and private donations. It was expanded and developed by means of the money earned by the Fleet's steamers. There are no shareholders in the Russian Volunteer Fleet and the organisation is therefore the property of the Russian nation. It can be considered neither as a government nor a private property.

"It should be clear therefore that the management of the Fleet cannot legally be transferred abroad while the Russian nation and population exist, notwithstanding the kind of government or governments by which the country is ruled. If some private enterprises might have been transferred abroad to save private property and capital from nationalisation, this may not be cited as ground for any transferennce of the management of the Russian

The delegations, each of which is attended by two secretaries, were seated thus: On the left of the Chairman, the French and Belgian delegations, and on his right, the British, Italian and Japanese delegations.

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Jan. 24.—Information from French sources indicates that the French representatives are quite content with the progress made thus far with the disarmament question.

The opinion prevails that the Allied note will grant an extension of two or three months of the time within which Germany must conform to her disarmament undertakings.

HISTORIC MEETING

Paris, January 24.—The Inter-Allied Conference which opened today at the historic Guock Hall at the Quai d'Orsay is the most important since the Armistice, Marshal Foch and Field-Marshal Sir Henry Wilson were in consultation prior to the opening, which indicates that the question of disarmament will probably be the first discussed.

Paris, January 24.—According to official communiques, at the first meeting of the Conference, M. Briand welcomed the delegates, and then briefly outlined the agenda. He then proceeded to the question of disarmament, whereupon the technical experts were introduced. Those for France are the Minister of War, M. Barthou, and Marshal Foch, assisted by Generals Weygand and Nollet; for Great Britain, Field-Marshal Sir Henry Wilson and General Bingham; and for Belgium, General Marietti.

Marshal Foch summarised in conclusion the report of the Committee which met at Versailles on December 30, and explained the present situation of Germany as regards troops and armaments.

Generals Bingham, Nollet and Marrietti also spoke.

The afternoon meeting lasted three hours. The conference decided that the military, naval and air experts meet tomorrow under the Chairmanship of Marshal Foch to draw up the measures which remain to be taken by Germany to secure the complete execution of the Peace Treaty as regards disarmament, these to be reported to the Conference.

AUSTRIA AND GREECE

Tomorrow's sitting will be devoted to the investigation of conditions in Austria, and thereafter to affairs in Greece and the East.

London, January 24.—French expectations for the outcome of any Allied Conference were never higher than today.

The Echo de Paris says that Germany will be given until May 1 to fulfil her disarmament obligations, and that after that penalities will be exacted in the event of non-fulfilment.

The Matin asserts that Lord Curzon yesterday remarked to a French personage: "You will be satisfied with this Conference."

The Petit Parisien says that Mr. Lloyd George insists on the necessity of fixing the sum of Germany's indebtedness, once and for all. This journal declares that this augurs most happily for the success of the negotiations, as it coincides with the view of the French Government.

London, January 24.—In connection with yesterday's semi-official statement from Berlin regarding the existence of a Communist army in Germany, it is pointed out here that these reports constantly recur whenever the question of the disarmament of Germany arises.

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, January 21.—Prior to the Chamber's overwhelming vote of confidence in the Government, M. Briand made a statement in which he characterised the present fixation of the total of the German indemnity as "a fool's bargain"

"TO THE LETTER"

He emphasised the determination of France to enforce the Treaty to the letter, though exhausting every means of conciliation before resorting to force. M. Briand expressed himself as confident of Allied solidarity, but declared that if France were left alone to face probable German aggression she would not hesitate to take her own measures.

Paris, January 22.—The Oeuvre writes that M. Briand's masterly speech in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday won over what had been prophesied would prove a rebellious house. M. Briand, the journal says, was by turns "ironical, scornful, conciliating, indignant."

The underlying note of the speech was the Premier's evident eagerness to serve the interests of France to the utmost. He pointed out that the Cabinet had been constituted "in a broad spirit of republican union, dominated by exigencies of national solidarity." After recalling the fact that he had been six times Premier, M. Briand declared that he was out for results. It would be abominable, he said, were the criminals to escape the penalty of the crime, after a victory bought at such a sacrific.

"FRANCE IS PATIENT"

"France," exclaimed M. Briand, "does not want to use her might. She is patient, but her patience must not be construed as a sign of weakness." Then followed the remarkable passage—in which the Premier asseverated that he would not tolerate the impossible position of accepting Germany's present reparations proposals, which spelled "a fool's bargain" for the future. Germany's productive capacity was formidable, he remarked.

M. Briand added that he regarded the resumption of diplomatic relations with the Vatican as indispensable.

Various interruptions by M. Leon Daudet, the Royalist leader, elicited scathing rejoinders from the Premier.

Advices from London state that the Briand Government's triumph has been hailed with keen satisfaction in the British capital, where general optimism prevails regarding the prospects of the forthcoming Inter-Allied Conference.

FRENCH DELEGATION

Paris, January 22.—France will be represented at the Inter-Allied Conference by M. Briand. M. Massigli, Secretary to the Ambassadors' Conference, will act as Secretary to the Inter-Allied Conference. General Noolet, Chairman of the Inter-Allied Control Commission in Germany, has arrived in Paris to attend the Conference.

Mixed Court Jottings

Two days out of jail after serving a sentence of a month's imprisonment for a similar offense, Simon Vinnchuck, a Russian, was caught trying to steal a roll of silk from a Japanese shop at 107 Broadway Monday morning. Commenting that this sort of thing was becoming a nuisance, Assessor Jacobs yesterday sentenced Vinnchuck to two months' imprisonment, to be followed by expulsion from the Settlement. The defendant gave the excuse that he was drunk and did not know what he was doing, a statement which the police denied. Vinnchuck was sentenced last month on the charge of stealing a roll of leather from a Chinese shop.

The Mixed Court yesterday dismissed the case brought against a Chinese woman who was charged with lodging false information of bribery against an employe of the Public Works Department. The woman is the conductor of a lodging house and had been denied a license because the premises did not conform to the building laws. She alleged that the defendant, a Chinese employed as a tracer in the P.W.D., came to see her and promised to have the alterations made, so that a license might be secured, for the consideration of $180. The Court in dismissing the case said that there was insufficient evidence to support the complainant, while the evidence of the other side was conflicting.

The opium squads put in a busy evening Monday, as a result of which five den proprietors were given prison sentences ranging from two weeks to three months by the Mixed Court yesterday and a long queue of patrons of the places—seventeen in all—were assessed $3 each. The locations of the establishments and the sentence imposed in each case were: 1451 Singa Road, three months; 309A Stone Bridge Road, two months; 738 Hwakee Road, one month; 199 Muirhead Road, one month; 713 Dairy Road, two weeks. The last mentioned place was in charge of a woman who stated that operating the place was her only means of supporting her children, her husband having been previously sentenced on a similar charge. The explanations given by the six customers who were seized in this raid were typical of all, as:

1st accused—"I never smoke. I dropped in to write a letter."

2nd—"I don't smoke. I went there for recreation."

3rd—"I came to collect a debt."

4th—"I came to borrow money."

VISCOUNT KATO URGES JAPAN TO QUIT SIBERIA

Chinese guarantees were forthcoming, the Japanese would immediately withdraw from Chientao. The same policy would be pursued as regards Vladivostok.

Replying to a question by Mr. Ren Nakashoji, ex-Minister of Agriculture and Commerce, as to whether the Government did not intend to take positive steps against Bolshevism, which was opposed to the interests of humanity and was jeopardising Oriental peace, the Premier replied that it was impossible to prevent the "Bolshevisation" of an alien country, and any positive measure in such a direction would certainly irritate that country.

The "Bolshevisation" of Siberia could not, therefore be effectively checked, and there was no likelihood of the Powers moving in that direction while the process was confined to Russian territory. The Japanese interests in the Chinese Eastern Railway zone and South Manchuria generally were menaced, and therefore troops were stationed at Harbin as well as at Vladivostok.

CHINA-JAPAN RELATIONS

Mr. Hara deplored that the relations between China and Japan were at present anything but satisfactory. The Government, he said, was well aware of the paramount importance of friendship with China, and was constantly striving towards a realisation thereof. The anti-Japanese movements in China were not, he declared, exclusively the outcome of Japan's policy.

In the House of Representatives, the Government was interpellated upon a number of subjects. Replying to these interpellations, Count Uchida, the Foreign Minister, declared that it was unnecessary for Japan to take the lead in proposing a limitation of armaments, because her present naval projects were the minimum compatible with national defense, but the Government was willing to consider any foreign proposal on the subject.

The resumption of trade with Russia required careful scrutiny, said the Minister, because evidently the Soviet aimed at carrying on propaganda through a resumption of trade. He declared that Japan's aid towards the relief of famine had made a most favorable impression in China, and he appealed for further aid.

The negotiations in reference t the Anglo-Japanese alliance were, he said, still proceeding, but it was impossible to disclose the particulars.

The Minister of War, Baron Tanaka, stated that the project for increasing the army from 21 Divisions to 25 had been suspended for the next ten years Mr. Kotaro Mochizuki (Kenseikai) in the course of a violent criticism, declared that the Japanese were undoubtedly completely isolated.

Mr. Nishimura (Kokuminto) declared that Japan was branded as a militaristic nation, second to Germany, because half of her Y.1,560,000,000 budget was devoted to armaments. A subsequential reduction would disabuse the world's suspicions on this score.

they could contribute the services of one or more of their staff with less inconvenience than a straight contribution to relief funds and if such is the case the A. R. C. will welcome contributions of personnel.

HIGHWAY WORK

"We have not made any appeal in China for money but we are endeavoring to spend over one million dollars received from America, Manila, Honolulu and elsewhere abroad. We are desirous of putting this foreign money into a permanent highway, not only to relieve the present famine situation but to demonstrate in a practical way the benefits of "Good Roads" to the Chinese people through which they pass and anybody taking part in such a work will be well rewarded in the personal satisfaction it affords.

"All volunteers are requested to send in a written application to the China Central Committee, 18-b Kiangse Road briefly stating their qualifications and references. Please do not come to see us until we send for you because we have lots to do and we desire written applications giving us time to investigate and make selections to best advantage."

An intensive nationwide drive for China's famine fund was launched at Peking by the most influential Chinese and foreign leaders, including several Cabinet Ministers, at a luncheon given by Dr. W. W. Yen, Minister of Foreign Affairs.

The campaign, which will be carried under the auspices of the various international famine relief societies, is to extend over one week during the last part of February and is hoped to be national-wide in effect.

Delegates from Tientsin were present at the meeting and intimated that their societies would undoubtedly unite in effort with the Peking promoters.

Mr. Wu Chi-sun, secretary to President Hsu Shih-chang, stated that the chief executive would loyally support the campaign.

STRONG COMMITTEE

A strong campaign committee to manage the affairs of the drive has been appointed in Peking to get large sums of money, while the local committee will cooperate with all societies in promoting the national campaign.

The Peking committee described the need of concerted action in combating the famine. Mr. Yeh Kung-cho, Minister of Communications, stated that the most conservative estimates show that 20,000,000 to 30,000,000 people are facing starvation. The period of the most intense suffering is approaching and it is high time, he said, that the nation should lay aside all political differences and present a united front against the menace which is a common foe to the country.

GET GOOD RESULTS

All the relief agencies, he continued, accomplished excellent results in their field, but the time has arrived when a cooperative campaign is necessary and that all must give generously.

Admiral Tsai Ting-kan strongly endorsed the work being done by the international relief societies in Peking, Tientsin, Hankow, Kaifeng, Tsinanfu and Taiyuanfu.

Mr. Wu Chi-sun said that President Hsu had been deeply moved by the appalling conditions in the famine area.

COMPLETE CAMP HERE

Construction work of the new camp for famine refugees in Chapei, inaugurated by Chu Paosan, former chairman of the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce and a number of other merchants here, was completed on Sunday.

One brick building is made up of 24 compartments and there are also 24 matsheds.

At present there are 438 inmates. Some of these entered the camp voluntarily, while others were sent there by the Chapei and Internatinoal Settlement police and local guilds. Two foremen sent there by the Shantung Guild are in charge of the works department and all refugees capable of working are given duties.

The premises were thrown open for inspection by the press and others on Sunday.

JAPAN BALKS RUSSIAN PLAN TO SHIP GOLD

New Restrictions Imposed By Nipponese Dictators At Vladivostok

TSARISTS IN ACTION

Followers Of Old Rule Make Demonstration To Aid Prisoners

Vladivostok, January 14.—The Chief of the Japanese Gendarmes has notified the authorities that in view of the fact that Russians are trying to transport silver and gold without the knowledge of the Japanese, hereafter it will be necessary to secure the gendarmes' permit, giving full particulars of quantities, destination and reason for the transportation of valuables.

DISARM KAPPEL TROOPS

The Japanese have recognised officially the right of the Russians to have power to disarm the Kappel troops at Nikolsk Ussuriysk.

The Chita elections have resulted in three Communists being chosen out of eleven deputies; at Blagvestchensk, the Communists received about 50 percent of the total votes; at Nikolsk Ussuriysk, out of eight deputies, three Communists and four Reactionaries have been elected; in the Maritime villages, the Communists have secured, approximately, 30 percent of the total number of votes.

The new Chief of the Japanese forces in Siberia, General Tachibana, is expected here on January 17. A special train has been sent to Harbin to convey him to Vladivostok.

USE HAND GRENADES

The Dalta Agency is informed that at Nikolsk in January 11, 30 Ussuriysk Kappel followers, armed with hand grenades, attacked the militia, requesting the release of some Kappelites who had been arrested for appearing in Tsarist uniform, but ceased hostilities when the Militia had released the prisoners.

Yesterday some Kappel soldiers attempted to kill the chief of the garrison, who was wounded. One militiaman was killed.

The authorities regard these events as fraught with grave dangers, having information, though contrary to the Japanese official statement, that the Kappel soldiers have arms, including machine guns.

At Nikolsk the Kappelites numbered four thousand, while the militia were scarcely two hundred strong. The Japanese were watching the situation and took all necessary preliminary steps.

MITSUIS ASK GRANTS

It is stated here that the Mitsui Company is asking for a concession of big forests in north Saghalien and in the Decastri locality. At the same time one English firm wants a coal and oil concession in Saghalien. All such requests will be decided on in Chita.

Sleuth Financier In Mixed Court

some time after Wong Ching-on acquired a certain popular Chinese theater on Rue Tourraine. In her petition to the court the wife said it was at the theater that Wong fell victim to the beauty and charm of Lu Lang-cheng, who is held to be one of China's leading actresses and who has been one of the attractions at the theater in question. After the separation and the payment under the agreement of $80,000 the wife informed the court that Wong Ching-on married Lu Lang-cheng and established her in his home on Avenue Joffre which he had refurbished and decorated to mark the event.

Wife No. 1 asserted that it was with the purpose of effecting the return of some part of the $80,000 payment that had been made that Wong had instigated a number of annoyances to which she had been subjected, such as being followed constantly and frequently being accosted by strangers.

In passing judgment, besides granting the divorce asked for the Court impressed upon both principals in the case that their association was at an end and that neither might in future annoy the other in any manner.

Washington, Jan. 24.—An increase of approximately 30 percent in the export tax on oil provided for in the Petroleum tax revision proposals of the Mexican Government is expected to become effective on February unless producers can convince the Government before then that the tax is unjust.

Theosophical Society

"The Dead Have Never Died" was the subject of a lecture at The Theosophical Society's room on Saturday afternoon, when Capt. G. W. Carter declared that it was doubt about the future that causes fear of death. "Only when we have a scientific basis for the hope of immortality will the awful fear of death disappear," said Capt. Carter, "If people really believed in a heavenly existence beyond the physical life they could not possibly have any sort of terror at the prospect of entering it."

"If a man's religion has not given him a genuine confidence in a future life, and made it as much a reality to him as this life is, it has failed to do what we have a right to demand of religion. If it does not enable him to look upon the face of his dead without a doubt, or a fear, there is something wrong, either with his religion or with his comprehension of it. What possible reason is there for fearing death? A thing that is universal, that comes to all, cannot be pernicious. To regard death as a disastrous thing would be an indictment of the sanity of nature."

"Death is merely a loss of one part of the mechanism of consciousness. The Soul, the thinker, has lost connection with the physical world because the physical body has ceased to exist. The mental and the astral body remain and they enable him to think and feel. But he cannot think more than he knows, nor feel what he has not evolved. All that has happened in death is that contact with the material world has been lost."

SHANGHAI TO MAKE EFFORT FOR STANFORD

Secretary John Potter Of Local Baseball Club Will Write To Palo Alto

TRIP SHOULD BE EASY

Support From Japan And Manila Assured; Early Start Helpful Here

Shanghai will make an effort to bring the Leland Stanford University baseball team here for a series of games this Summer and will do everything possible to encourage the coming of the University of California nine.

Secretary John Potter of the Amateur Baseball Club said last night that he would take up matters direct with Graduate Manager Thomas A. Gallagher of Stanford and will write to Palo Alto in a day or two so that the letter will leave here on the Empress of Japan or the Nile on Saturday. Johnny said that he will suggest to the Stanford management that all possible encouragement should be given the University of California team to make the trip.

Should the two nines arrive here local baseball followers would be certain of bang-up baseball as the two colleges are bitter rivals. A series of three games here for a silver trophy of value, the gift of American fans, would assure some great diamond battles.

BOTH COULD COME

With any support from the student bodies of the two institutions and pledges from Japan, China and Philippine cities, there is no reason why the two teams can not make the trip. Games can be arranged without trouble in Tokio, Yokohama, Kobe, Nagasaki, Dairen, Tsingtao, Peking, Tientsin, Shanghai, Manila, Hongkong and possibly Canton. It is not widely known that there are 14 Japanese teams in Tsingtao while the Japanese have made the game popular in Dairen.

Japan could well afford to pay the entire expenses of the trip. The athletic associations of Waseda, Keio and Meiji universities could make money by bringing the two American college nines out and the Japanese Government, already committed to a great physical education program, would probably assist.

JAPAN BASEBALL MAD

Japan is baseball mad. The writer saw some 40 games in progress on a trip last Summer from Yokohama to Tokio and then sat with a crowd of 14,000 while Chicago University handed Waseda a neat walloping On every vacant lot young Japan is playing baseball.

Stanford and U. of C. would be bothered in Manila by the rainy season, Hongkong would be fairly delightful and the big bets outside of Japan, are Tientsin—with its regiment of American soldiers, Peking—with its Legation Guard, and Shanghai.

SHOULD START EARLY

The problem for Shanghai should not be difficult if the Baseball Club directors get started early. According to the last census there are 2,813 Americans in Shanghai. These figures were cut loose about November 18. Since then the boats have been coming regularly and will come according to scheduled until May. Of course they are going home fully booked, too.

Now then, why wouldn't it be a good idea for the Baseball Club to get started right away with the 2,800 odd who are here. Some of them will not be here when Stanford and California arrive—but they would gladly contribute the customary ten bucks.

So that we respectfully submit the following to the Baseball Club directors—

1.—Prepare a complete list of male Americans in Shanghai at once

2.—Form a membership committee to start work on March first, the committee to be appointed at an American athletic dinner which could be held late in February

3.—Continue the membership compaign until the baseball season opens

All money needed for the American college series should be raised before the teams leave the States in June.

Sporting Editor's Letter Box

Sporting, Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Dear Sir: I have recently arrived from the States to become the Physical Director of this Academy and read with considerable interest the letters in your paper for the 18th re the formation of an America Athletic Association. If there is not already some organisation which allows the teams of the different parts of the country to compete, it would appear to me that American Athletics would be fostered by such an association. Of course this is in a way the opinion of an outsider for I have not been here long enough to know much of the situation. I can assure you that any information that you will be kind enough to give me will be most welcome.

In the same issue appears an article concerning the formation of a China team for competition in a Far Eastern Olympiad. The President of the Academy, Dr. Torrance, an old football player and distance runner, is keen on getting entries in that meet if such a thing is possible. Having boys here from sixteen to twenty it is quite likely that I may have some good material.

It would be a great favor to me if you would give me some information concerning this meet, particularly where I can get entry blanks, classifications, lists of events and so forth.

Hoping that I may hear from you in the not far distant future and thanking you in advance for any kindnesses you may do for me, I am,

Very truly yours,
L. H. NULAND.
Tsingtao University Preparatory Academy.

Sporting, Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Dear Sir: Being a very enthusiastic fan regarding any and all forms of American sports, I would certainly like to know through your columns what has caused the sudden drop of the proposed board of control that is to govern American Athletics.

Realising that we are to be confronted with the numerous holidays during the Chinese New Year, and as I am informed through your paper of the return of the New Orleans to this port, I for one, would like to see a return match of the good old Yankee game.

No doubt you too are inclined to think that the Yankees would be able to put a strong rugby team in the field, but why in the name of Mars adopt rugby or soccer when we can hardly get eleven men to participate in our own winter pastime. Let us have American football as long as we can get opponents and I am sure that the Sailors will more than give Shanghai the battle of their lives, should they meet again.

I also understand that the Far Eastern Olympics are to be held in this city, and I honestly think that the move that is on foot now to appoint a controling board is the most sportsmanlike assertion I have ever heard tell of in this neck of the woods. Shanghai ought to be well represented in both track and field and would not find it very difficult to overcome outside competition.

Hoping that you will do all in your power to draw the net around all Americans athletically inclined, I beg to remain,

JIM NASIUM.

All-Star Foreign Quintet Playing Chinese 'Y' Tonight

Picked Basketball Team Should Make Undefeated Team Hustle; Whites And Public School Win

Basketball followers will get a treat tonight.

An All-Star quintet, picked from the Foreign League teams is scheduled to play the Chinese Y. M. C. A. five—as yet undefeated—at the Chinese Y. M. C. A. gymnasium on North Szechuen Road. The game will start at 8 o'clock. The foreigners will have a husky crew to oppose the hitherto-unbeaten Chinese aggregation.

Charley Giauque is expected to play center for the foreigners against Liu and the battle should be worth seeing. The forwards will be McCloy and Haskell or Gray with Jackson or Gray and Irle playing the guard positions. Incidentally Irle is one of the real stars uncovered in the local basketball world this year. He will probably play Tom Chang tonight. A record crowd will be on hand to see the match as the Chinese team has a great following.

WHITES BEAT COLUMBIA

Two games were played last night in the Foreign League.

The Whites defeated the Columbia Country Club in a tough old battle by a single point, 26-25, a little old basket from the white line telling the story. The game was fairly smart, no less than ten personal fouls being called in addition to as many technical fouls. Had the Whites taken more advantage of their free throws, the victory would have been by a bigger margin. The Columbians used seven men while the Whites used six.

PUBLIC SCHOOL WINS

The Public School walked over the Reds and then trampled on the crimson-clad crew. The final score was something like 57 to 33 although the School had but an eight-point lead when the whistle blew for the end of the first period. Lewis, Johansson, Giauque, McCloy and Gray scored heavily.

The summaries of both games:

Owner Of Socks Found At Last; They're Still Here

A guard on the Rowing Club basketball team wears fairly good silk socks which are supported from above by mauve garters. There are only two guards and we refuse to let you in on the secret as to which one we mean.

But the socks and mauve garters are still here if they will call—preferably when we are out if he sees this story.

A kind-hearted reader yesterday sent a frazzled, worn-out shirt to the sporting editor. Another sent a pair of old shoes. The former was too small, the latter too suggestive.

Close Finish Features Riding Competition Held In Nanyuan Country

Mr. E. H. Brenan on Ioweu won the hunt last Sunday held under the auspices of the Peking Paper Hunt Club in the Nanyuan Country.

Some 30 riders turned out and followed the paper laid by Mr. H. de Richelieu on a very sporting course. There were two checks, but at the second the paper was picked up so quickly that the stragglers had no time to catch up.

Mr. Brenan was to tue fore on Ioweu closely followed by Baron Taube on Dences Wild, the former winning by less than a length. Miss Kaemmerer was third on Patapouff, followed by Commander Barber, on Protection, and Mr. Mackinnon on Ratata, (late Freckles) the two last named being heavy weight.

Next Sunday's hunt will be a point to point in the Race Course Country over a course to be laid by the winner, Mr. Brenan.

MAGISTRATE LOSES LIFE IS REPORT FORM SHANTUNG

Conspiracy Among Officers Suspected Of Being Cause Of Tragedy

(China Press Correspondence)

Hsuchowfu, January 21.—News came several days ago that Chang Teh-sen, the hsien magistrate of Peichow had been killed. Various accounts have been given out of the cause but the truth is difficult to ascertain. The local paper first reported that an explosion of ammunition in the yamen had caused the magistrate's death; another report said that bandits had attacked and burned the yamen, killing the official. The most likely report, however, is that the magistrate had incurred the enmity of some of his officers and of an influential lawbreaker through his unwillingness to dismiss a charge against the latter. They then conspired together, stirring up some of the soldiers at the yamen who killed Mr. Chang.

SHOP IS LOOTED

Two days ago five soldiers went into a shop in the South suburb of the city and demanded money from the keeper of the shop. When he refused they drew guns, so he handed over the till and they took all he had.

There is a funny part to the story, however, while three of the men were inside the shop gathering up the loot two of their comrades stood guard at the door. When the three had finished their work they deliberately dodged the others by shipping out the back way, leaving the two still standing guard.

When the shop-keeper realised the situation he called to a near-by policeman and with his help captured one of these two but the other escaped.

FOR FAMINE RELIEF

Mr. Cornwell, assistant director of the American Red Cross Famine Relief work spent yesterday in Hsuchowfu in consultation with the purchasing agent of the Red Cross who has been here for a month. Already 720 tons of bean cake has been purchased, of which 500 tons has been shipped to Tehchow.

Mr. Cornwell's visit was to make better shipping arrangements and to inquire into the advisability of making much larger purchases here.

Rev. F. A. Brown of Hsuchowfu left on Jan. 3 for Tehchow to aid in the work there. He expects to return at the end of the month.

Rev. H. K. Taylor of Tsing Kiang-pu also passed through for six weeks work with the Red Cross at Siaochang near Tehchow.

The Chinese, especially the Christians, have been greatly interested in contributing to the cause of famine relief. The Christian Girl's School raised $188.00 by an entertainment, and the other Christians got up $247.00.

The Tenth Provincial Middle School gave a series of three entertainments by which they raised about $200 for the same cause.

Abduction Charge Against Detectives Withdrawn In Court

Men Who Arrested Foochow Students Released, When Witnesses Cannot Appear

The case against the two Foochow detectives charged with abducting nine Fukienese students from the International Settlement was withdrawn in the Mixed Court yesterday because the City Court would not permit the appearance of the students as witnesses. The nine were arrested in the Chinese City on charges of being implicated in the murder of two Foochow merchants who were killed during the boycott agitations of last year.

Mr. J. Em. Lemiere, representing the defendants, stated that his clients would take a civil action charging malicious prosecution.

Mr. K. E. Newman, appearing for the prosecution and representing the Fukien Guild, stated to Assessor Blackburn and Magistrate Li that he now understood that the Procurator of Justice at Peking had instructed the Shanghai City Magistrate not to send the students back to Foochow. On his recommendation therefore the Guild had instructed him, since they were not able to get the students into the Mixed Court and under the circumstances could not prove the charges, to withdraw the case. Mr. S. H. Scong, who appeared on behalf of two of the students' parents, supported Mr. Newman's proposal.

Mr. Lemiere said he was glad to see the prosecution withdraw. They had been over hasty, he declared, and had not weighed the evidence sufficiently before taking steps. His clients had been arrested on December 30 and had not been released until January 5 and they intended to take action in the Civil Court for malicious prosecution. Pending the beginning of this action he asked that the man who had started the abduction suit be placed under security of from $500 to $1,000.

The Assessor, in dismissing the case, said the Court could not consider the question of the security asked. It was very obvious that if the prosecution could not get the nine students into Court the prosecution must break down. The Assessor stated that he had done what he could in the matter, having written twice to the City Court, but he was unable to get the students to the Mixed Court.

According to an intimation by the City Procurator, as reported in yesterday's issue, it is likely the students will be released.

New York, Jan. 25.—According to a London telegram, the terms of the Russo-British agreement which M. Krassin took to Moscow are published.

Both Powers agree to refrain from hostile propaganda outside their own borders, and not to impose a blockade or discrimination against each other. Postal and telegraphic facilities are to be renewed, and Great Britain agrees to refrain from attaching securities and commodities.

Chen-lu Is Given Welcome By French

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, January 23.—The French press is giving Dr. Chen-lu, the new Chinese Minister to Paris, a warm welcome, pointing out that the distinguished diplomat is a former student of Paris University, where he took up the degree of Doctor of Law.

To a representative of Le Journal, Dr. Chen-lu stated that his chief aim would be to make still more intimate the bonds happily uniting the French and Chinese Republics, which, however, did not know one another well enough.

China could offer an inexhaustible supply of raw materials, while France could send engineers, mechanics and other technical men, whom China needed badly, the Doctor concluded.

Because of his real love for France and his profound comprehension of French life and civilisation, Dr. Chen-lu is sure to be persona grata here, and in a position to render his own country invaluable services.

Local Householders Are Victimised By Pseudo 'Inspectors'

Several Shanghai householders have lately been victimised by men posing as electric meter inspectors. Three such instances have come to the attention of the Police.

The first case occurred about two months ago when a Chinese wearing dark glasses called at a foreign style residence occupied by a wealthy Chinese family in Sinza Road. He stated that he had come to test the lights and was shown over the house by one of the household coolies. Arriving in one of the rooms he directed the coolie to go downstairs and turn off the current at the meter. When the coolie returned he found the visitor busily jotting notes into a memorandum book. He declared the lights to be all right and left. After which the family discovered that $200 worth of jewelry was missing.

About a month ago a foreigner called at a foreign residence in Weihaiwei Road and asked to see the electric meter. The lady of the house undertook to guide him to it. He stopped before the gas meter and began to examine it. The lady pointed out that it was not the electric meter and the man apologised and left.

Two days ago a Chinese, evidently the same one as in the previous instance, asked to test the lights in a foreign residence on Connaught Road. He was shown about by the houseboy, whom he sent back from one of the bedroom to turn off the current. The boy on returning, as in the former case, found the pseudo inspector setting down notes. He reported everything all right. Later in the day $500 worth of jewelry was found to be gone.

None of the householders had thought to ask for the "inspector's" credentials.

UNITED STATES WILL FORBID SHIPMENT OF NARCOTICS TO JAPAN

Through the efforts of the China Club of Seattle, a ruling has been obtained from the U. S. Treasury Department, by which all narcotics will in future be barred from shipment to Japan, according to words received by the local Anti-opium association. It is expected that in the present session of Congress, a bill will be passed by which narcotics will be prohibited to all countries.

As a result of this it is hoped that pressure will be brought to bear upon other countries so that the illicit traffic of narcotic drugs into China may be stopped.

Eight Hour Day At Sea Is Subject Of Federation Parley

(Reuter's Services)

Brussels, January 24.—The International Shipping Federation is meeting. The British delegates, Mr. Havelock Wilson, M.P., and Mr. Cuthbert Laws, representing respectively the seamen and shipowners, today discussed the question of the eight-hour day.

This meeting is significant because it is the first time in the history of labor that two international organisations of employers and employed have met to discuss the calling of a further conference.

The main object of the two parties at present is to solve the difficulties which prevented the International Labor Conference at Genoa last year from arriving at a draft convention for submission to the various Parliaments.

Revenue Board To Call On Officials Abroad For Taxes

(Reuters Service's)

London, January 24.—The Board of Inland Revenue has ruled that payments, as compensation for the loss in exchange, hitherto made to officers and others stationed in countries where the rate of exchange has been unfavorable to Britain, are liable to income-tax and should be included in assessments.

The recipients' total assessable income will be reached by conversion into sterling at the current official rate of exchange of the gross total number of units (dollars on the China station and rupees on the East Indies station) actually issuable in respect of emoluments normally assessable to income-tax.

This decision operates as from April 1, 1920, and applies to all such payments already made or which fall due to be made to both naval and civil personnel in respect of the period beginning then.

Rice Proclamation Issued In 1913 Prohibits Export

It is thought that possibly some of the Chinese engaged in the exportation of rice from the province may be doing so in ignorance of a prohibitory proclamation issued by the Civil Governor in January, 1913, or that they may even be perverting that proclamation into an excuse for such illegal exportation. The proclamation, which is still in force, is to the following effect:

"Rice merchants in rice producing areas or in places where large quantities of rice are stored are allowed to export rice from the province when the best quality rice is retailing locally at $8 or under per picul. Exportation of rice shall be prohibited by the magistrate of the district concerned when the retail price of best quality rice for the locality exceeds $8 per picul."

The price of best quality rice yesterday was $9.90. It has not been as low as $8 since before the first determined skyward jump of over a year ago.

Many occupants of the houses are missing. A spark from the chisel of a workman caulking the tank is said to have caused the accident.

REJECT PROPOSAL FOR TRADE WITH AMUR PROVINCE

Peking Holds Reciprocal Arrangement Might Prejudice Yourin Negotiations

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, January 21.—The local Russian authorities in Amur province have proposed to Tuchun Sun of Heilungkiang a 'mutual interprovincial arrangement for reciprocal trade intercourse similar to the agreement recently reached between the authorities of Sinkiang and Russian Turkestan, and which was approved by the Peking government.

The request has, however, been rejected on the grounds that the Amur province being nominally a portion of the new Far Eastern Republic, whose representative is now negotiating in Peking for trade resumption with the Republic as a whole, these negotiations must not be prejudiced by any local agreement affecting portions of the territory of the new Republic or of China.

Yourin is at present endeavoring to secure the resumption of his negotiations with the Foreign Office, and is pledging his government to pay indemnity for injuries suffered by Chinese merchants in its territory, as well as to withdraw the offending stipulations presented recently by him as the requirements of his government in the proposed treaty.

British King, In Wire, Tells His Grief Over Tragedy

(Reuter's Services)

London, January 24.—The King has telegraphed to Mr. Walter Long, First Lord of the Admiralty, as follows: "I am deeply grieved to hear of the sinking of the submarine K-5, which resulted in the loss of her gallant crew. Please have my heartfelt sympathy conveyed to the relatives of the officers and men who perished."

A former member of the crew of the K-5 in an interview, declared that the submarine had caused trouble at Rosyth last May. While diving, the submarine had seemed to "take charge" and went to the bottom at a steep angle, and they were then down for two hours. Her diving qualities were generally described as abnormal.

It has also been revealed that the craft recently gave trouble between Chatham and Portsmouth.

U.S. Makes Record In Ship Output

(U. S. Naval Radio through Reuter)

New York, Jan. 25.—The United States leads the world in respect of the merchant vessels launched in 1920, (according to Lloyd's Shipping Register) with 2,478,000 tons. Great Britain is second with 2,055,000 tons. Japan's output was 456,000 tons, as compared with 611,000 tons in 1919.

The total launched in other countries was 1,330,000 tons, a decrease of 20,000. The launchings in the United States are nine times those of 1913.

Management Cannot Shift Says R. V. F. Head

Volunteer Fleet or its vessels, for the Fleet is already nationalised and the property and capital from the moment of their creation, and by the nature of their creation, belong to the Russian nation. For this same reason no other government can legally requisition or seize the Fleet's property for debts contracted by the present or any other Russian government.

LAW STATES PURPOSE

"The first article of the most recent Russian law applying to the Russian Volunteer Fleet, signed by the late Emperor on July 18, 1912 (July 5 old style), which still applies and has not been altered by any of the succeeding Russian governments, states:

"'The Russian Volunteer Fleet is an establishment based upon voluntary donations and destined to maintain communications by sea by transportation of passengers and cargo, for the purpose of supporting and developing national trade and a commercial navy.'

"This article clearly indicates that no individual, nor any official of the company, may take any action to deprive the shores of Russia of their means of communication or Russian trade of its necessary means of movement.

"Talk of recognising, or refusal to recognise, this or the other Russian government has no bearing upon the matter of the Russian Volunteer Fleet—a national and not a Government property—and the expression of opinion in this connection, whether by company employes or other individuals, cannot concern the establishment. Any or all Russian governments, notwithstanding how many these may be, will, however, realise the necessity for maintaining Russian communications by means of the fleet and any individuals who seek to seize and divert these ships from Russian shores, or to bring them under the flag of another nation do so on their individual responsibility and with neither legal nor moral right.

NO RIGHT TO DIVERT SHIPS

"There has never been any authority given employes of the company abroad to divert these ships.

"Sooner or later the local Russian governments will come to some agreement between themselves. Meantime the vessels of this national organisation must continue to fulfill the purpose for which they were originally destined, namely that of maintaining necessary communications, notwithstanding what government this or that part of the country may now be under.

"In the face of these principles a self-styled board of directors, free of any government or national control, are seizing vessels of the Fleet and sending them under different charters to ply in far-off and alien waters. And this action has the effect of crippling the nation's communications, increasing the cost of living to the Russian people and working severe hardship upon them at a time when they need, more than they ever did before, the service of the fleet which they themselves paid to have built.

"The effects of this condition are being felt with especial severity—even great suffering—by the people of the Northern boundaries of the Russian Far East, who depend entirely upon the Russian Volunteer Fleet to maintain touch with the peoples of the outside world. The vessels of the Fleet constitute the only medium by which these people receive their supplies and by which they are enabled to send their fish and furs to Vladivostok.

PEOPLE REPORTED STARVING

"Already calls for assistance have come out of these far Northern communities to the offices of the Fleet in Vladivostok. Last summer, owing to the scarcity of ships, the office was not able to send a sufficient number of vessels to the sea of Okhotsk and Kamchatka and the Vladivostok Government has received a number of wireless messages to the effect that in some places the population is facing starvation.

"In addition to creating conditions such as this the people who are diverting these ships from their proper use are spending thousands and thousands in money belonging rightfully to the Russian people, money which Russia needs as she never has before, and they are spending it without any form of proper supervisory control and without making any return of rightful proceeds to the national coffers."

"PRICELESS"

is a popular way of describing anything which has proved to be of exceptional value, and may therefore be employed to describe that old and favourite preparation—Beecham's Pills. The ever-increasing army of men and women who have experience of this excellent medicine generally use some such phrase as "priceless" or "Worth a guinea a box," when speaking of Beecham's Pills. This is certainly high praise. But it is well-merited. Beecham's Pills have proved, times out of number, to be a "priceless" preparation in the treatment of digestive ailments. They bring relief; they safeguard the health; they effect remarkable cures. All who suffer in any way from biliousness, sick headache, constipation, impaired appetite, and the resulting loss of energy and want of tone should take

Tsin Dah (晉大莊)

Wei Dah (會大莊) Banks

The above-mentioned banks have duly paid all accounts due by them by allotment and instalment. Several creditors, however, who should have claimed have not done so. We advertised in the fourth, eighth and ninth moons, in the Shun Pao, Sin Wan Pao, North China Daily News and in this paper, inviting the creditors to draw payment not later than the end of the ninth moon, otherwise they would lose their power to claim, and the funds would be turned over for benevolent purposes. Our liquidating office has been established for years, and, as the end of the Chinese year is approaching, we have abolished it without further waiting, and the funds unclaimed by the creditors have been donated to benevolent causes in accordance with our previous meeting, in order that the matter may be concluded finally. All notes and pass books remaining in the possession of Chinese or foreigners, are hereby declared to be null and void, and the public is hereby requested to note this final declaration.

NOTICE

Butcheries both in the International and French Settlements hereby jointly notify the Public:

Shanghai Butchers usually purchase sheep and calves from the interior of China. In consequence of the recent famine and the high cost of food prices, labour and farm hands in the interior, the raising of cattle and sheep has become difficult, and therefore the supply of meat has decreased in comparision with that of previous years. The price of meat has risen to a much higher price above normal, say, an increase of about 5 to 6 cents per pound.

In spite of the difficulty and high cost of transportation of animals from the interior, and the high price of rice and other foods, Shanghai Butchers sell meat to their customers as cheaply as possible, with the intention of retaining their good connection with customers.

A meeting has been held by all Shanghai Butchers and a resolution passed that an increase or certain prices per pound shall be made on cash sales as well as contracted transactions.

We wish the public to understand that the increase in prices was decided upon only after the most careful consideration and only for necessity's sake.

The following Butchers in the International Settlement will come under the above resolution:

Yue-Shing, The Oxford Butchery, Cosmopolitan, Wei-Zee, Zang-Zoong, Teh-Fong, Yung-Foong, The Hanbury, The Shanghai Butchers, Yun-Kee, Foh-Loong, Zung-Zoong, Ziang-Kee, San-Mow, Yuen-Cheong, Woo-Mei, Yue-Woo, Yao-Tsing-Kee, Zee-Ah-De, Tsen-Kee, Hop-Shing, Dong-Hing, Yah-Foong, North-Hong-Kee, Tsen-Tai, Yung-Tai-Foh, The Asia, San-Tai, and Shing-Mow.

The following Butchers in the French Settlement will come under the above resolution:

Zung-Shing-Kun-Kee, Yung-Sin, Sau-Woo, Zung-Shing-Hop Kee, Yung-Shing-Fau, Hong-Kee, and Dong-Hing.

Taking The Burn Out Of The X-Ray

The burning and blistering effects of the X-rays can now be eliminated, claims M. Pech, a French scientist. He employs infra-red rays to neutralise the X-rays, reports Experimental Science, when the cathode or X-rays tube is in operation. The infra-red rays will also neutralise the destructive ultra-violet rays, which are in predominance about the mercury vapor and, arc light. His method of eliminating the burns will be investigated experimentally by the French Academy of Sciences under the direction of M. Bethrelot. It is the practice now to protect the operator from the X-rays by means of a sheet of lead glass, metallic lead, or even clothes impregnated with lead chemicals, the lead in either case being impervious to the X-rays.

The Interallied Conference Is Opened

REUTER describes the Inter-Allied Conference which was convened in Paris on Monday as the most important since the Armistice, and there will be few to question this description of it, for at this conference the whole position created in Europe by the Peace Treaty is to come under review.

First and foremost are the questions of German disarmament and reparations, and although recent despatches imparted the impression that the conference faced exceedingly hard sledding with regard to these problems, the latest messages are more hopeful. The outlook, now is that an agreement will be reached, and if it is, it will mark a distinct victory for France, for up to now, neither Great Britain nor Italy has exhibited any inclination to go the full length in enforcement of the treaty terms.

France's position has been and is that only the disarmament of Germany, as provided by the treaty, will assure and guarantee the peace of Europe. But with such disarmament, she has contended, no real menace to peace will remain and all Europe can go back to the plow and the factory safe in the thought that no power remains capable of upsetting its affairs without warning.

Germany, it would seem is to be given a little more time in which to comply with the terms of the treaty. The degree of disarmament which that country should have reached January 1 was not reached and an extension to May 1 apparently has been agreed upon.

A general understanding also seems to have been arrived at on the question of reparations. At least the total of the cash indemnity is to be finally fixed, so that Germany will know the exact amount she will have to pay and when she will have to pay it.

It should not be understood from these remarks however that the reaching of these agreements is a matter of easy accomplishment. While there is every reason to believe that the delegates are entering the conference with the full intention of formulating a program that will enable them to present a united front to Germany, the agreement will be reached more for the latter reason than from downright belief in the program itself.

Great Britain, we note, favored consulting the Germans before confronting them with the Allies' final decision regarding disarmament, but M. Briand, France's fighting Premier, opposed this, and the likelihood is that the Germans will be merely permitted to state their views.

An interesting question that will come up during the argument on reparations is that of the payment of interest on the German war bonds. The German budget this year contains an item of 12,000,000,000 marks for payment of interest on German war bonds. This the French say is in violation of the treaty of Versailles which in Annex 2, Article 12, Paragraph B. says:

"The Reparations Commission shall examine the German system of taxation to the end that sums for reparation that Germany is required to pay shall become a charge upon all their revenues prior to that for service, or discharge of any domestic loan."

The French point of view is that these 12,000,000,000 marks should be paid to the Allies rather than to the holders of German bonds.

French opinion is further irritated by the refusal of Germany to pay the amount due nationals of the Allies on account of debts owed by German nationals. For the last six months the Germans have been making these settlements. They paid the October account, 40,000,000 francs, but that for November, 27,000,000 francs, they refused to pay, although due Dec. 8.

The German point of view is that debts owed their nationals by allied nationals should also be paid, but the treaty says under Section 3:

"Any balances which may be due by one or more of the Allied and Associated Powers shall be retained until complete payment shall have been effected of sums due Allied or Associated Powers or their nationals on account of the war."

What will the conference do about this matter? And what will it do about the definite German demand for a loan of six billion gold marks for the purpose of buying food and raw materials, and for the return of some of the German mercantile marine, surrendered under the Treaty of Peace?

France already is advocating a large loan to Austria and there is a strengthening movement in Austria towards joining Germany, this being regarded as offering the only way out of the financial and economic morass in which Austria finds herself floundering. Will France also be willing to join the Allied and Associated powers in advancing money to Germany? We doubt it. Yet Germany claims she can never pay unless she is helped now.

All these questions indicate the difficulties confronting the Allied statesmen in Paris. Still it is evident they have made up their minds to stand together, which after all, is the best augury of success.

AND SO SAY ALL OF US

Here is a new golf story of Earl Haig and "Andra" Kirkaldy, the famous Scottish professional.

The gallant Field Marshal loves golf and plays it frequently, but so far he has failed to attain any great proficiency at the game.

Now old "Andra" is no respecter of persons, and recently, at the end of a round with the distinguished soldier at St. Andrews, he made the Earl laugh heartily and scandalised all the others present by remarking in his inimitable way:

"Weel, sir, it's a guid job for us a' that ye're a better sodjer than ye are a gowfer!"

SAME OLD CROWD

Albert Chevalier, who is playing in "My Old Dutch" at the Lyceum Theater, London, is not only the foremost of our cockney delineators but he can turn his hand to rhymes on occasions. Not very long ago he scribbled these lines for a friend between the acts of his now famous play:

They met at dinner in their hotel
"Commercials" recently come.
The one was fat and of very good cheer,
The other was lean and glum.

"Why it's Spiffkins!" cried the fat man;
And he bowed him a genial bow.
"I haven't seen you for years old man;
Who are you working for now?"

The lean man sighed a deep, deep sigh—
It rattled the entree lids—
"Same old crowd!" he sadly said.
"A wife and six hungry kids!"

A COUPLE OF ROBEY JOKES

There are some amusing yarns in George Robey's newly published book entitled "After dinner stories." Take this one:

Two profiteers had been staying at an hotel for three months.

"Well, Jim, what do you think of this hotel?"

"Fine, 'Erbert, but there's one thing I don't like. They charge two bob for a bath."

"Do they?"

"Who is the hero of this piece?" asked the man coming out of the theater.

And the manager thoughtfully replied:

"The man who is financing it."

WINSTON AGAIN

A new book has been published called "The Mirrors of Downing Street." The author prefers to remain anonymous, but he is evidently very much in the know. His pen pictures of Lloyd George, Kitchener and Asquith are said to be wonderfully lifelike. But it is to Winston Churchill that most of us will direct our attention just now, remembering that he has been given the great and arduous task of Colonial Secretary. Of this versatile statesman he writes:

"Ever since I first met him, when he was still in the twenties, he has seemed to me one of the most pathetic and misunderstood figures in public life. People have got it into their head that he is a noisy, shameless, truculent and pushing person, a sort of intellectual Horatio Bottomley of the upper classes.

"Nothing could be farther from the truth."

Elsewhere he says of him that he has loved with all his heart, with all his mind, with all his soul, and with all his strength, three things—war, politics and himself. He loved war for its dangers, he loves politics for the same reason, and himself he has loved for the knowledge that his mind is always dangerous—dangerous to his enemies, dangerous to his friends and dangerous to himself.

He was once asked if politics were more to him than any other pursuit of mankind.

"Politics," he replied, "are almost as exciting as war, and equally as dangerous."

"Even with the new rifle?"

"Well, in war," he answered, "you can only be killed once, but in politics many times."

Publicity In Municipal Administration Urged By Mr. Hughes

their well being and that of the community in general and that had there been more opportunities in the past for public discussion of affairs, many of our present day problems would not be so difficult of solution as they are.

"The Civic League was formed not with the intention to add to the difficulties of the administration but to provide the opportunity for a wider knowledge and appreciation and discussion of our civic affairs so that a large and well informed body of ratepayers and residents would be organised and united in the support of any measures necessary to meet the rapidly changing conditions and to give adequate opportunity for the expression of public opinion.

REVIEWS CIVIC PROBLEMS

"It was and still is the intention of the Committee to arrange for a series of addresses on municipal affairs commencing with one on the Government of Shanghai which has already been delivered, followed by another on the Land Regulations. Unfortunately no one who could speak with authority on the Land Regulations has been willing to do so for the reasons that important modifications have become very necessary and until there is a prospect of making them, it is thought better to let 'sleeping dogs lie.'

"My personal conviction is that the longer the delay, the more difficult the problem will become. I have been asked on this occasion to review briefly some of our civic problems which it is hoped will be dealt with separately in detail on future occasions by those qualified to speak on them. It is a great pity that the heads of municipal departments should be debarred from delivering addresses on these subjects on which they have expert knowledge.

"The problem of prime importance to Shanghai at present is of course the traffic conditions. In this connection past administrations cannot escape blame for their lack of foresight in anticipating the requirement of Shanghai's development which has been clearly foreshadowed for many years past. Traffic conditions were unsatisfactory 15 years and more ago and even then the subject of comment. It was quite evident to one with an expert knowledge of city real estate values and especially to one familiar with the rapid development in America or Canada of mere villages into large cities that there was every probability that Shanghai, as the chief commercial center of an undeveloped country containing a quarter of the world's population, would experience a similar development.

"It was also evident that no adequate appreciation of this probable development of Shanghai urged the administration to take steps that could have been taken to meet it. Money was plentiful and cheap and land values only a fraction of what they are today.

PRESENT CONDITIONS

"We are not however concerned with lost opportunities but we are vitally interested in schemes for the alleviation of present conditions. There is probably no city in the world of the size of Shanghai where the traffic problems are so complex and acute. A few months ago I met a traveller in Shanghai for a well known British concern who carried a motor bicycle with him. He had visited every important city at Home and in the Near and Far East. After the first day or so he gave up using his bicycle in Shanghai owing to the traffic conditions which he claimed were worse than any other place he had visited. There is scarcely a road in the entire central district wide enough to meet traffic requirements as they are now and in all probability, those requirements will rapidly become far greater.

Less than a year ago the Engineer in chief of the Wangpoo Conservancy Board stated is a report on Harbor conditions (vide CHINA PRESS May 16, 1920) that the importance of China's trade and Shanghai's position entitle this place to become a first class world port, and with the development of Shanghai as such other ports will grow in proportion.

"But even now the circumstances seem to justify the belief that all is not being done that might be done to relieve the congestion and provide for future requirements. Surely it would be a wise policy on the part of the Council to take the ratepayers and residents into their confidence in this connection and permit the chief of the Department of Public Works to meet the ratepayers and discuss this vital question with them.

The traffic problem so closely touches the comfort, convenience and safety of every resident of Shanghai that the Civic League will endeavor to hold a public meeting for further discussion of it at an early date.

PUBLIC UTILITIES

Another very important matter closely allied with that just referred to is that of public utility monopolies such as the tramway service, telephones etc. These have been the subject of endless public criticism and with very good reasons. Just before the trams began to run in Shanghai we had a visit from one of the best known authorities on electric traction in the person of Sir Clifton Robinson. He expressed the opinion to me that Shanghai was no place for electric trams on rails owing to the narrow and congested streets and stated that unless the streets could be widened the time might come when the rails would have to be removed and motor busses substituted.

"In other respects the service is open to severe criticism and is far inferior to that of other cities as for example Hongkong. The telephone service also is very unsatisfactory and though some allowance must be made for local conditions affecting its operation there is a very general belief that a far more efficient service can and should be provided.

"Some time ago I kept a note of every consecutive 150 calls made. The connection was unsatisfactory in one out of four.

"The ratepayers have paid dearly for their experience in granting these public utility monoplies without sufficiently protecting the interests of the community and undoubtedly public interest in future will be much keener and more critical when the time comes for creating an extension of them.

HOUSING PROBLEM

Another problem now the subject of much comment and arising out of the rapid growth of Shanghai's population is that of house accommodation. There is a serious shortage and profiteering is rampant. Materially adding to the already excessive cost of living. Only yesterday a tenant of a down town flat informed me that he had sold his lease to his landlord for Tls. 4,000 which means of course that the next tenants will have to make the bargain profitable. It is open to question, however, whether the administration is able to provide any effective measure of relief and no doubt the high rents obtainable will encourage the building of houses and apartments to an extent that will ultimately meet the demand when, no doubt, profiteering and exorbitant rental demands will be mitigated. It is hoped that an opportunity will be afforded the members of the League to discuss this question fully at a subsequent meeting.

PUBLIC EDUCATION

"I have been specially requested to touch upon the question of the policy of the administration as regards public education. Some change in this policy will undoubtedly be demanded to meet the changed conditions arising from the rapid increase of foreigners of nationalities other than that which has hitherto been predominent in the control of this settlement. As in many other matters which must become the subject of public discussion, some regret may be felt in certain quarters that it should be necessary to do so.

"It is, however, useless to try and shelve the problem and the bald fact must be stated that to endeavor to perpetuate a national education in an international settlement is unwise and unfair. The question is whether the time has not arrived when a policy of municipal grants to national and private schools should not take the place of a public school education on national lines maintained at the expense of the ratepayers of all nationalities.

"Nearly 80 percent of the upkeep of the Shanghai public school is paid by the tax payers and only a little over 20 percent covered by fees whilst 11 different nationalities are represented by the pupils. The American community is erecting its own school, the cost of which and its upkeep will be entirely defrayed by Americans many of whom will be also paying for educational facilities not in keeping with their own national ideal and from which they derive no benefit. There are special reasons for the public schools for Chinese but no provision is made for the education of Chinese girls. On the question of education, I am glad to announce that an address has already been arranged for by one who is an authority on the subject.

SHANGHAI'S EXTENSION

"The question of Settlement Extension is hardly worth a reference as the doors of opportunity that have been opened occasionally are shut, bolted and barred and cannot now be reopened except possibly to admit of a compromise on the basis of granting to the Chinese a share in the Government of the enlarged municipality. No more flagrant example can be adduced of the 'it will serve our time' policy which seems to have been characteristic of our city fathers in the past. This matter and the appalling traffic conditions fully justify the demand for wider opportunities of expressing public opinion on civic affairs.

"Other problems of pressing importance to residents of Shanghai which might well form the subject of discussion under the auspices of the Civic League are those of sewage disposal and water supply. These also are civic necessities which should have been anticipated and provided for long ago and which the lapse of time greatly increases the difficulty and cost of supplying.

"There are many other matters to which public attention should be directed affecting the welfare of all residents, foreign and Chinese, in this Settlement such as labor problems, provision for an international park to which the Chinese can be admitted, the registration of companies, provision for indigent foreigners, etc.

"The object of this address has been merely to outline the Civic Problems of sufficient importance to the community to warrant their discussion by the public who pay the cost of and who as electors are responsible for the administration.

ENCOURAGE CRITICISM

"It has been pointed out that very material changes have taken place in recent years in the civic necessities of Shanghai and such changes must inevitably demand modifications of the more or less, parochial policy of the administration which has prevailed in the past.

"The growing interest taken by the public in municipal affairs cannot be suppressed and it is becoming restive of the continued shirking of municipal problems under the excuse of the limitations imposed by our political charter. The policy that has undoubtedly prevailed of discouraging criticism and public discussion of civic affairs, must be abandoned.

"Well intentioned criticism and discussion and a keener interest in such affairs will be of benefit to the administration and the community at large rather than otherwise. The absence of it tends to an oligarchic form of government, not sufficiently responsive to rapidly changing conditions and the needs of the people, a tendency to perpetuate old and effete ideas, extravagance and resentment of cricitism to which in Shanghai the administration has for so long a time been generally unaccustomed.

"Proxy voting should disappear. It is only reasonably to suppose that the absentee voters will oppose costly but absolutely necessary innovations such, for instance, as sewage disposal in which they can have little direct interest. Such proxy voting is obsolete and the only qualifications for electors should be residence and the payment of a minimum tax.

INCREASE VOTERS

The number of voters needs to be materially increased. Ratepayers living on municipal roads outside the Settlement have no votes at all and large numbers of permanent residents living in hotels and boarding houses contribute nothing directly to the cost of administration.

"More time should be allowed for public discussion at the ratepayers' meeting. Long and more or less technical statements and addresses usually read at these meetings might be printed beforehand and circulated.

"Council meetings should as elsewhere be open to the Press, the information given in the Municipal Gazette being insufficient. The number of councillors should be increased and they should be more representative of all classes and if possible elected by wards. More candidates should be encouraged to offer themselves for election and pre-election campaigning is not undesirable. At the present time it is obvious that the majority of councillors are always persona grata to the 'powers that be' and an independant outsider who occasionally creeps has little influence in the deliberations of the Council.

"In conclusion, Mr. Chairman, I would like to make it quite clear that the views I have expressed constitute my own independant opinions based on 15 years residence in Shanghai and must not be taken as having been endorsed by the Committee of the Civic League which cannot be held responsible for the remarks of those who speak at our meetings. I believe however that I am voicing the sentiments of a large and increasing number of ratepayers and residents in Shanghai who, while fully appreciating the valuable and public spirited services of past and present administrations and the high standard of efficiency and unquestioned integrity of our departmental chiefs and their staffs, are of opinion that rapidly changing conditions in this International Settlement demand some modification of its administration that will tend to broaden its policy, to make it more representative and more responsive to the needs of its residents than it has been in the past.

UP TO RATEPAYERS

"It is also very necessary that ratepayers and residents should not lose sight of the fact referred to elsewhere in this address that the administration is hedged about with limitations and difficulties and its actions circumscribed by its political charter to an extent that renders it more or less impotent to adequately meet many of the problems which are demanding solution.

"If the Council could see its way to take the ratepayers more largely into their confidence in this connection, it would go far in removing much misunderstanding and prove a palliative to the growing irritation with conditions which the administration is possibly powerless to relieve.

"The Ratepayers also will do well to bear in mind the old saying that a people has the Government it deserves and if there is any blame attaching in any respect to the policy of administrations in the past a measure of it devolves upon the ratepayers themselves for the apathy they have shown towards civic affairs and it is up to the ratepayers of today to see that in this respect history does not repeat itself."

A Romantic Drama of Border Life Along the Rio Grande

A Colorful, Speedy, Heartful Romance by one who knows the Soul of the Border
AUGUSTUS THOMAS

"RIO GRANDE"

"MY LIPS ARE FOR THE MAN I LOVE!"

So spoke Maria Inez, in whose veins ran the blood of an American mother and a Mexican father. Is it any wonder she hated fiercely and loved deeply? Is it any wonder that she allowed no mountains, no forests, no distance, no Rio Gande, to separate her from that blue-eyed Irish Gringo on the American shore?

Hers was a drama of fiery romance—of border adventure—colorful, speedy, heartful. So is the screen play.
